Francisco José de Goya y Lucientes (1746-1828), one of Spain's most revered and controversial painters, is known for his intense, chilling, and sometimes grotesque paintings depicting the injustice of society with brutal sincerity. A court painter to the Spanish crown, he captured, through his works, a snapshot of life in Spain in the late 18th and early 19th centuries. Coming at the tail end of the Old Masters period, Goya, with his audacious, subversive, and highly influential works, can be considered the first painter of the modern era. His influence can be seen in the works of artists as varied as Pablo Picasso and Francis Bacon.

The Family of Carlos III (1789), oil on canvas, 100 x 130 cm, Museo del Prado, Madrid. This painting is a portrait of the royal family of Spain, including King Carlos III, Queen Maria Antonia, and their children. The scene is set in a domestic interior, with the king and queen seated at a table, and their children standing around them. The painting is a classic example of Goya's portraiture, capturing the family in a candid and intimate moment.
